DISCUSSION SUMMARY: A BIGGER SPLASH

Only a few of us saw A Bigger Splash which was at our local art theater for a very short time. But it made a big impression. With the always fabulous Tilda Swinton as vacationing Bowie-esque rock star Marianne-Lane (on a Sicilian island with her boyfriend) and Ralph Fiennes as her exuberant ex-flame producer, Harry, who makes an unexpected appearance with his seductive daughter (Dakota Johnson), male egos flare. The location is incredibly beautiful and the performances nuanced and outstanding. Tensions blister in the Mediterranean sun and finally burst.

Though only a few of us saw A Bigger Splash, we each gave the film a resounding 4 on a scale of 1-5. (5 is the best).
